

BLENDED

An ideal combination of online self-study material + classes with a teacher

Who is it for?

- Companies interested in a cost-effective language learning solution for their staff
- Students that want to make the most of classroom time with the teacher and do as much independent work as possible
- Students who want to enjoy all the advantages of interaction with a teacher + all the flexibility of online courses

What is it?

A course made up of 2 components:

- An online complete course on a self-study platform where students work on reading, listening, grammar and vocabulary on their own.
- Standard group or individual lessons in a classroom with a teacher, either face to face or virtual, where students practice oral skills, review written texts and reinforce the grammar and vocabulary contents learnt in the online component.

How does it work?

Students do the online component on their own, but have deadlines set by the teacher.

Students and teacher meet on a regular basis at established times/days and have a face to face or virtual class, where they review, recycle and consolidate what they've learnt independently, practice their oral expression and expand on the platform material with additional topics if wanted.

Why use it?

Blended offers all the advantages of online courses:

- Accessible anytime, anywhere
- Structured courses ensure all the programme is completed
- Students manage their rhythm of work and their progress through the activities

Plus all the advantages of standard classes as an ideal complement to the online component:

- Consolidation of independent study takes place by performing in an actual classroom setting
- Standard classes impose a time framework and a greater commitment to the online independent work
- Interaction with other students allows to share and practice in a realistic context
- Real-time contact with a teacher allows to get feedback and solve doubts
- Use of extra material (non-online platform based) helps to recycle, review and expand
